DID YOU KNOW?

*Each year in the United States, nearly 100 workers are killed and another 20,000 are seriously injured in forklift-related incidents

OSHA 1910.178 Power Industrial Trucks covers the training requirements employers must follow to be in compliance with this regulation. Some of those requirements include but are not limited to the following: general orientation, site specific orientation (including a tour), performance based driving test.

The Job Shop Staffing Services has a relentless desire to stay abreast of ever changing legislative and OSHA Standards affecting our clients. In 2003 we began providing general power industrial truck training to any temporary employee sent on an assignment to operate a power industrial truck. By providing this orientation we believe that this will help in the overall safety of our employees and the reduction of training expenses for our clients.
